It all began on a freezing afternoon. It was as cold as a refrigerator. I had just gotten out of the cafeteria. I looked out onto the playground. All was plain.

I asked Daisy, "What should we do?" She had no idea what to do. Suddenly, I saw a big bright light in the sky. It was as bright as a flashlight turned on in a dark room. I observed it very closely.

It was a spaceship! I eyed it like a hawk. I couldn't believe it, a couple of space cows came out of the space ship. The cows came up to me.

I asked them, "What are you doing here?"

They answered, " We came to have fun." They could talk human English. They showed me what they did to have fun in space. I also taught them what I did to have fun. They showed me a game called moo tag. Watching them gallop and tagging me saying moo was hilarious. I then showed them how to play kick ball. They weren't very good though. Hooves don't kick far.

I had so much fun with the space cows. They had come to deliver joy. They had a fabulous day and so did I. Who knew you could hve so much fun with space cows. I will never forget my friends the space cows. I hope they return again sometime.
